ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE:

TITLE: METHOD FOR PREDICTIVE MONITORING OF HEALTH TRENDS

An embodiment of the present invention is a method for monitoring various data sources for events indicative of a current or potential system health problem, thereby detecting positive or negative trends in system health data. At the core of this module is an algorithm that analyzes a series of data points that have been collected into sample sets over time.